How do you make orange simple syrup

Orange Simple Syrup is a three-ingredients easy condiment. Perfect sweet citrus flavor for drinks, cocktails, desserts, and more. This post contains affiliate links. Homemade Sugar Syrup One of my favorite things to do when I am hosting and making cocktails is have some flavored simple syrups to serve up! The extra flavor is just perfect for enhancing a drink, plus it can be used in desserts as well. This orange simple syrup is extremely versatile with a strong citrus flavor and great for the holidays. WHAT IS SIMPLE SYRUP? Simple syrup is a basic and easy to make sweet syrup. Make simple syrup by combining sugar and water over heat until the sugar dissolves. It is important to not let the sugar boil as it will start to crystallize and give you something much thicker or harder than a simple syrup. Simple syrup can be used in various baked goods, such as to soak into cakes to keep moisture, but is most commonly known for its use in cocktails and drinks. For cocktails, simple syrup brings sweetness to the drink and sometimes additional flavor if you are using an infused simple syrup, such as this Orange Simple Syrup. What is simple syrup made of? A simple syrup is simply equal parts sugar and water - that's it! You can choose to make it extra sweet by increasing the sugar up to twice the amount of water (such as 1 cup sugar to 1/2 cup water) however I have found this causes it to crystallize very easily. When making a flavored simple syrup such as this orange one, there is a flavor component added, typically in the fashion of infusing the flavor with an ingredient soaking in the syrup when cooling. Does simple syrup need to boil? Not necessarily, however heating it makes the sugar dissolve much faster. Is simple syrup the same as sugar syrup? Yes! Should you refrigerate simple syrup? Yes, you want to keep it cold. This will help prevent it from molding. Store it in a container, jar, or bottle for up to a month in the refrigerator. Ingredients Here is what you need to make this syrup. That's it! Instructions Overview Making your own simple syrup is so easy! Add all three ingredients into a small pot and bring to a boil. Reduce the heat and let it simmer for 15 minutes to make sure the sugar is dissolved and also strengthen the orange flavor. Remove from the heat and let it sit, with the peels steeping in the syrup, to further develop the orange flavor. Then bottle it up to store in the refrigerator and use as desired! It is best to avoid as much of the white pith as possible to avoid adding some bitterness to the syrup. Serving: 1batch | Calories: 789kcal | Carbohydrates: 204g | Protein: 1g | Fat: 1g | Polyunsaturated Fat: 1g | Monounsaturated Fat: 1g | Sodium: 18mg | Potassium: 36mg | Fiber: 2g | Sugar: 200g | Vitamin A: 64IU | Vitamin C: 21mg | Calcium: 36mg | Iron: 1mg Mention @threeolivesbranch or tag #threeolivesbranch! Making your own simple syrup really makes a difference in your drinks and desserts. A simple syrup is just equal parts granulated sugar and water. The sugar and water are combined in a saucepan, then you add whatever additional ingredients you want for flavoring. In this case it's orange peel! There are many recipes that call for sweetness, but where you don't want to add granulated sugar. This is because it can be hard to get the sugar combined well in a cold recipe, like in a margarita! Or in Watermelon Lime Popsicles. Or in Watermelon Granita. :) You want to make sure when you peel the orange that you are only getting the orange part, not the white pith under the peel. That pith is bitter and you don't want to add bitterness to the syrup! I have an OXO peeler and it does a perfect job of this. I can easily peel the entire orange with no pith in no time. You will only use the peel from the orange in this recipe. So after you have your orange peeled, you can either just eat it, or squeeze it for juice to use in a salad dressing like my Orange Sherry Vinaigrette! This recipe can also be changed to use any kind of citrus. Lime, lemon and grapefruit all make delicious simple syrups. Print clock icon cutlery icon flag icon folder icon instagram icon pinterest icon facebook icon print icon squares icon heart icon heart solid icon Use this easy simple syrup for drinks and desserts! 1 cup of granulated sugar 1 cup of water Peel from a whole orange. The orange part only, avoid any of the pith (the white part) as it can be bitter. Add the cup of sugar and cup of water to a small saucepan and turn the heat to medium low. Stir the sugar into the water as it heats up. Once the sugar is dissolved, add the orange peels to the pan. Return to a low simmer. Reduce the heat to low and simmer for about 5 minutes. Don't boil the syrup, just a gentle simmer. Turn off the heat and let the mixture cool. Once the mixture has cooled, remove the orange peel and pour the golden liquid into a glass jar with a cover. Keep in the refrigerator for up to a month. Recipe Card powered by I first made this orange syrup when I was making the Crowned King's Cake. It has an intense, sweet yet tangy orange flavor and it can be dabbed onto cake layers to keep them moist and give them a little orange zing, or it can be generously poured over a cake to create an orange syrup cake. 120ml (or ½ cup) water 60ml (or ¼ cup) freshly squeezed orange juice 50g (or ¼ cup) granulated sugar Combine the water, sugar, and orange juice in a small saucepan and heat over moderate heat, stirring to dissolve the sugar. Once the sugar has completely dissolved and the syrup is clear, take the pan off the heat and pour the syrup in a mug to cool to room temperature. Let the syrup cool to room temperature before placing it in the fridge until use. The syrup will keep, tightly sealed in the fridge, for at least 2 weeks. Jump to Recipe Print Recipe Orange Simple Syrup is an easy way to add excitement and flavor to your favorite drink recipes! Pour them in a fun glass bottle tied off with a colorful ribbon to give to your bartender friend alongside other mixology necessities! The citrus and sugar work together in this Orange Simple Syrup recipe to bring a tart but sweet taste to your lips! Add in the aroma of freshly squeezed orange juice and you have a drink that even smells good too! Prepping this recipe takes just 5 minutes and cooking only 10 so there's no reason you shouldn't make this! And after you do, make sure to use it in this Christmas Brunch Punch! Orange Simple Syrup Ingredients So simple you think you're forgetting something! Freshly squeezed orange juice, water, sugar, and orange peel make up this simple syrup. How To Make Orange Syrup Mix together the orange juice, water, sugar, and orange peel in a small saucepan on medium-high heat. As you bring it to a boil the sugar will dissolve, stir syrup occasionally. Remove from heat and allow it to cool to room temperature. Throw away remaining orange peels and store in an airtight container until ready to use. How To Serve Brunch with the girls just got even more exciting! Add this orange flavor to your favorite mimosas while you catch up with friends. This Orange Syrup would go great in my Orange Pomegranate Mimosa or Cranberry Orange Mimosa recipes! This syrup also makes the perfect addition to your favorite iced teas, lemonades, cocktails, or for making flavored water! Feel free to use this orange flavor and my other simple syrups as the topping on homemade snow cones! Raspberry Syrup, Strawberry Syrup, or Blackberry Syrup would all be great flavors to try! This syrup is good for up to 2 weeks in the refrigerator. This means you have plenty of time to try almost anything with this homemade syrup. Pin It For Later Click the button above to save this delicious recipe to your board! Let's Connect!
